

This map illustrates the Bhanpur area, characterized by a dense grid of numbered plots. The region is bounded by Sonpuri to the north, Wadad to the west, Jartal to the southwest, and Dongargaon to the south. Key locations labeled include Kohka to the north, Bhanpur in the center, and Gondiya to the east. The map features a network of roads, with a prominent blue line running vertically through the center. Numerous orange lines delineate individual plots, many of which are numbered. The map also shows the proximity to the Nila Gondi area to the northeast and Seigaon to the southeast. The overall layout suggests a well-organized land distribution or survey.

This map illustrates the Bhanpur area, characterized by a dense grid of numbered plots. The region is bounded by Sonpuri to the north, Wadad to the west, Jartal to the southwest, and Dongargaon to the south. Key locations labeled include Kohka to the north, Bhanpur in the center, and Gondiya to the east. The map features a network of roads, with a prominent blue line running vertically through the center. Numerous orange lines delineate individual plots, many of which are numbered. The map also shows the proximity to the Nila Gondi area to the northeast and Seigaon to the southeast. The overall layout suggests a well-organized land distribution or survey.

